

T. DELL BARR, COUNTY TREASURER, DIES

OFFICERS END THEFTS WITH 11 ARRESTS

Children Admit Theft From Pennsylvania Company—Received Warning.

Eleven Circleville children, seven of whom are under the age of 15 years, pleaded guilty before Judge E. A. Brown in juvenile court to the charge of theft placed against them by officials of the Pennsylvania railroad company. When the children all pleaded guilty to the charge, Judge Brown after warning them severely continued the case indefinitely, telling the youths that if they were again brought before him they would be sentenced to the Lancaster Boys' Industrial school.

The boys, all of who reside in the south end of the city, are William, Emmett and Glen Cook, John Taffe, Dick and Flint Boltenhouse, Warner and Forrest Lutz, Charles Jackson, George Davis and James Bowsher.

The boys were taken into custody after many days of investigation by Officer William McCrady and Probation Officer L. M. Brown. The search for the youths started following a complaint filed in the local court by J. L. Owens, Pennsylvania railroad detective, who has also been in Circleville working on the case.

STEALING WASTE
The railroad charged that the boys had been stealing waste and packing from the journal boxes in the railroad cars, south of the city, and were using this to make fires.

In one instance, a serious accident may have happened had it not been discovered in time. Several boys had removed the packing from a box car which was loaded with livestock and was being shipped to Lancaster. When the car reached Stoutsville, a fire was discovered in the journal boxes and the livestock was hurriedly taken from the car and side-tracked.

All the boys appeared very sorry they had committed their offense and it is thought following Judge Brown's warning they will not be called to court again.

COMMON PLEAS CASE SETTLED

Petit Jurors Not To Report Until Called By Clerk Of Common Pleas Court.

The common pleas court case of Nellie M. Liston against the State Transit Co., has been settled out of court, according to an announcement made Saturday.

Petit jurors are not to report until called by the clerk. Announcement was made during the past week that court was to start Monday with the Liston-State Transit case but attorneys settled the suit for damages following an automobile accident out of court.

11 CHICKENS ARE STOLEN

Police Saturday were investigating theft of 11 chickens from the coop of Miss Ollie Clark, E. High-st., who reports her yard was entered Friday night and the chickens taken.

Entrance to the chicken coop was gained by breaking a lock.

CHAS. PLUM NAMED HI-Y PRESIDENT

Robert Greenlee Elected Vice President At Annual Election of Officers.

Charles Plum, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Plum of N. Court-st., was elected president of the Circleville high school Hi-Y club at its annual election held this week. Robert Greenlee was named vice-president; Pat Kirwin was elected secretary and Donald May, treasurer.

Plum has just completed a year as vice-president being the only sophomore officer in the organization. Officers will be installed next week.

HERO OF MARNE IMPROVED

Marshal Joffre, hero of the Battle of the Marne, who was reported seriously ill at his country residence at Louveciennes, near Paris, denies reports of ill health. He has differences and opinions and unlike written his memoirs of the war-time period, with the wish that his publication be posthumous.

HIGHWAY MAN BADLY HURT

Rollie Wine, South Bloomingville, Injured By Dynamite Explosion.

Rollie Wine of South Bloomingville, is recovering from serious injuries he received when struck in the face by a charge of dynamite which was delayed in discharging. Wine was handling the dynamite used in blasting rocks along the route or the highway improvement between Old Man's Cave and South Bloomingville. He had loaded two holes with the explosive and had ignited the fuses.

Believing that both charges had gone off simultaneously he returned to the spot to examine the results when the second blast let go, throwing dirt and rock particles into his face.

At Cherington hospital it was learned he had lost his right eye and the entire right side of his face was blown full of dirt. The upper part of his body received a part of the charge and was lacerated.

RUSH TROOPS TO SHOLAPUR

Report Unruly Mob Marching On Police Arsenal In Bombay Presidency.

LONDON, May 10.—All available troops in Sholapur, Bombay Presidency, were rushed out in full force today following a report an unruly mob was marching on the police arsenal, according to dispatches to the evening newspapers.

The report proved to be without foundation. The city, however, remains in a state of extreme nervous tension. All mills are closed and business is at a standstill.

The entire port of Ragoon has been paralyzed by a strike of dock hands, according to an exchange telegraph dispatch. The strikers were led by Nationalist agitators, the dispatch said.

LAURELVILLE POST ARRANGE PROGRAM

Annual Memorial Day services will be held at Laurelville Community Hall, Sunday June 1, according to an announcement. The services will be under the auspices of the American Legion assisted by citizens of the village.

NEGRO BURNED TO DEATH BY HOWLING MOB

Crowd Ruins Texas Courthouse Then Gain Vengeance In Negro Quarter.

SHERMAN, Texas, May 10.—Bloodshed and terrorism under mob rule ended here early today after a howling mob of 2,000 persons finally gained possession of the body of George Hughes, 41 year old negro, charged with criminal assault, and burned it at the stake.

The mob gained its end after it had destroyed the Grayston-co Courthouse by fire and had battled State Rangers, National Guardsmen, and city policemen for 18 hours.

A small two-story brick building, owned and occupied by negroes, was also burned for added vengeance.

The negro's body was tossed to the crowd shortly before midnight when it was removed from a vault in the charred ruins of the courthouse.

The negro had perished several hours earlier when the courthouse was fired by the mob after authorities had placed him in the vault for safe keeping.

Forming a procession with the body on full display in a truck, the crowd immediately began a march to the negro quarters of the city.

Reaching the center of the black belt, the mob formed in a semi-circle around a street corner and the body was hung to a limb of a tree in front of a negro drug store.

Kindling, wood, boxes and papers soaked in gasoline were piled under the tree and set afire.

As the flames licked upward, the crowd continued its shouting and hooting, and remained upon the scene until the burned body dropped to the street.

The building before which the pyre was built was ignited and completely destroyed.

The negro district had been practically abandoned by its residents. Authorities believed the general exodus of negroes from the city prevented wider disorders.

Five persons, all white, were badly injured in the series of clashes between the mob and civil military authorities. One youth was shot. Many others were believed to have suffered minor injuries.

The street clashes reached a climax two hours before the body of the negro was recovered from the vault.

Rumors that the negro had been spirited away and was not locked in the vault, precipitated a storming of the county jail by the mobmen.

State troopers on guard fired a volley of fifty shots over the heads of the crowd as it rushed forward. One Sherman youth, fell with a bullet in his abdomen. Four guards were injured before the attack was repulsed.

NEGRO ADMITS ROUGH CHARGE

John Jackson, Jr., Being Held In City Jail Pending Sentence By Mayor.

John Jackson, Jr., colored, of Canal-st., pleaded guilty Saturday when arraigned before Mayor B. T. Hedges on a charge of assault and battery preferred against him by Edward Dalton.

Sentence was deferred until later Saturday.

The charge followed an alleged altercation when Jackson is said to have become intoxicated and struck at Dalton several times finally resulting in Dalton receiving a blackened eye.

HEART FATAL TO FRANKFORT NEGRO

Jefferson Baker, aged 75, colored, of Frankfort, died suddenly of heart disease at his home Friday. He is survived by five children.

"Theme Song"

BY SHELDON MADER.
We have so many theme songs
It seems they can't be wrong;
They're here, they're there, they're everywhere—
Some short, some sweet, some long.

Some of these are pretties.
Like our Scotch or Irish ditties.
But most are about young people
With thought of love life, "kiddies."
But we have one certain theme song.
And I know it can't be wrong.
It's beautiful and different,
And it's neither short nor long.
Can you guess it?
"Your Mother and Mine."

CHURCHES ARRANGE SPECIAL MOTHERS' DAY PROGRAMS

Union Service at Presbyterian Church In Evening With Rev. McElfresh In the Pulpit To Be Highlight—Elks Quartet To Sing.

Circleville's churches have arranged special programs, both morning and evening, in commemoration of Mother's Day, with union services at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening in the Presbyterian church being the peak of the celebration. The Rev. Franklin McElfresh will deliver the sermon at the union service.

The Elks' double quartet will sing two selections, as a special feature of the evening's program.

The subject of Rev. Toensmeier's sermon at the morning services will be, "His Mother's Name."

This will be at 10:15 a. m. The Methodist Episcopal church has arranged special services in the morning with a program at 9 a. m. under the supervision of the Women's Bible class of which Mrs. W. T. Uhm is teacher. At 10:30 the Young Ladies' Bible class will have charge of the program under the direction of Mrs. E. A. Allen. Mrs. Allen will read an original story.

Cradle roll members of the Calvary Evangelical church will be giving recognition at the services at 10:15 a. m., when a special Mother's Day program has been arranged.

A sermon will be rendered in the evening by the pastor, Rev. C. W. Ruhlman.

"Why We Call Our Mother Blessed" is the subject of Dr. Troutman's sermon to be given at the Trinity Lutheran church, Sunday at 10:15 a. m. A program has been arranged for Mother's Day observation.

A general meeting of the Luther League will be at Lancaster at 2:30 in the afternoon.

Evening worship will be at 7:30, when Dr. Troutman will use as his subject, "What Attracts You Most to Christ?"

Rev. W. F. Rutherford's subject at 10:30 a. m. services will be "Mother." His subject in the evening will be, "Pentecost."

A program, at which the Eagles lodge will attend, has been arranged for Sunday at St. Philip's Episcopal church.

APPOINTMENT OF ROBERTS WINS FAVOR

Dry Opposition Expected To Bear No Weight—Fess, a Dry, For Him.

By George R. Holmes.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—No serious difficulty is anticipated in confirming Owen J. Roberts as an associate justice of the United States supreme court, despite the growing of the radical prohibitionists in the senate.

While there probably will be some votes cast against his confirmation, his nomination has not stirred up anything like the opposition, that greeted the names of Charles Evans Hughes and John J. Parker. There was plenty of leadership in the Hughes and Parker fights, but a survey today failed to develop anyone anxious to assume direction of a fight against the Philadelphian.

EMINENT MAN

Roberts' eminence as a lawyer and his successful conduct of the litigation arising out of the oil scandals, in which the government recovered all the oil reserves which Albert B. Fall leased away to his friends, has impressed even those in the senate who might logically be counted upon to oppose his elevation to the bench.

The opposition, such as it has been revealed in the short time his name has been before the senate, is confined almost entirely to the more radical dries, and the more extreme advocates of government regulation of all kinds of business. These elements fall far short of enough strength to prevent confirmation.

It takes a coalition of virtually all the Democrats and all the Republican insurgents to control the senate on a given issue, and in case of Roberts nothing like such solidarity can be counted upon, for him to a man, and he has a very considerable following among the Insurgents and the Democrats.

DUE TO SPEECH

The growing of the radical prohibitionists is due to a speech which Roberts delivered before a bankers' convention some years ago in which he was quoted in newspaper accounts as developing the putting into the constitution such "police regulations" as the 18th amendment.

Senator Reed (R) of Pennsylvania, when he heard of the situation, telephoned to Roberts at his (Continued on Page Three)

By a vote of 41 to 39 the Senate rejected John J. Parker, of North Carolina. This is the first time in 36 years that a presidential appointee has been rejected by the Senate.

14 DEAD, MANY HURT IN FIGHT

Report Moro Uprising Squelched In Philippines With Casualties.

MANILA, May 10.—Fourteen dead and fifteen wounded was the toll today of the two battles which were staged between a band of Moros outlaws and the Philippine Constabulary at the village of Kawayan, Province of Lanao.

One officer and four enlisted men of the Constabulary were killed and fifteen were wounded when the strong position of Sultan Matmur was stormed. Nine of the outlaws were known to have been killed in the fighting.

A report which was received here today from Lieutenant Grimstead, who was wounded in the leg, said the Moros had been routed from their stronghold. It is believed that Matmur is considered an unimportant Moro leader, escaped.

Some criticism was prevalent here because the Constabulary chose to assault the strong Moro position, when, it was claimed, the outlaws could have been subdued by starvation.

Governor John Hefington of the Province of Lanao reported to authorities here that the situation was well in hand and that "peace and order in Lanao was good, and that the disturbance was of local nature."

DEATH COMES AT HIS HOME IN TARLTON

Was Elected County Treasurer On Democratic Ticket With No Opposition.

Thomas Delta Barr, aged 57, treasurer of Pickaway-co since January 1, 1929, died at his home in Tarlton Saturday at 2:30 a. m. of cancer of the stomach. Mr. Barr, who lived in this city for a few months in Watt-st., had been in failing health since he took office but carried on until he was forced to go to Mt. Carmel hospital.

He underwent the operation on March 1, and from that time on until he passed away his death was momentarily expected. He was removed to his Tarlton home on March 19.

Only his iron courage and strong heart permitted him to live as long as he did.

He was elected to the office of treasurer on the Democratic ticket with no person opposing him for the election. He defeated Earl Hoffman and Lee T. Shuman in the primaries for the nomination.

Mr. Barr, owner of the general condition made an announcement two weeks ago that he would not be a candidate for reelection to the office of treasurer on account of his health.

Boyd Trout, former treasurer, has been acting as treasurer since Barr became seriously ill.

He was born June 28, 1873 in Fairfield-co and was the son of Lyman and Sarah Kiger Barr. He removed to Pickaway-co and has been a resident of Tarlton for the past 33 years. For 30 years he owned a general store in that village.

On November 2, 1898, he was married to Ellen Gehring of Tarlton.

He is survived by his widow, and the following relatives: three sisters, Miss Emma Barr of Tarlton; Mrs. Isaac Bell of Ashville; and Mrs. Charles Kiger of Pickaway-twp; two brothers, Charles of Baltimore, O., and Clarence of Stoutsville. He has no children.

Funeral services will be Monday at 2:30 p. m. at the Methodist Episcopal church in Tarlton of which he was a member. Burial will be in charge of Eugene M. Crites, funeral director.

CHILLI DENTIST ON PROBATION

Moriarty Pleads Guilty To Manslaughter, Yapple Grants Leniency.

CHILLICOTHE, O., May 10.—After pleading guilty to a manslaughter charge and asking for leniency, Dr. John Moriarty, local dentist, today had entered upon a 2 year probationary period. His auto, on March 22, ran down and killed Carl Brunner, 12. Dr. Moriarty's driver's rights were revoked for one year by Common Pleas Judge Luther B. Yapple.

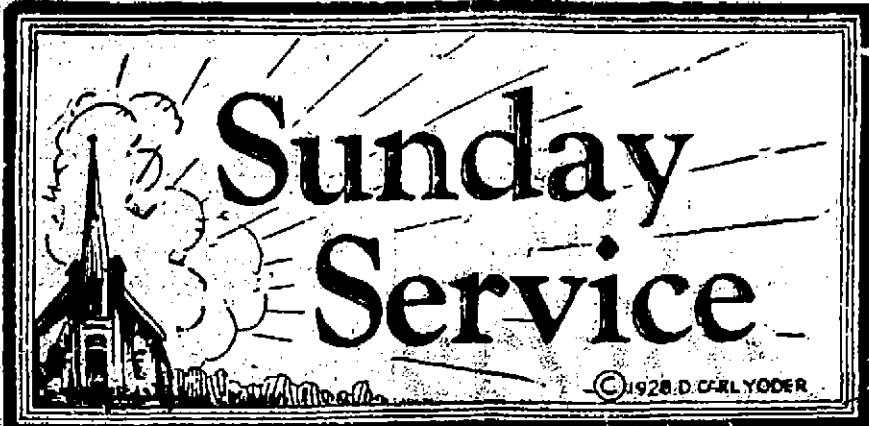

The dentist told Judge Yapple that the mishap was unintentional. He explained that "an unruly companion" in his car was responsible for his failure to see the boy in the road.

COUNTERFEITER WORKS LANCASTER

Evidence shows that a counterfeiter is busy in Lancaster as the barber shop of Homer Eitz has had three this week. Mr. Eitz took one to the bank where it was found to weigh less than a genuine half dollar. Other characteristics of the counterfeit piece were as smoother surface, lack of ring and less distinct design. All three were dated 1907.

THE CHURCH, A MOTHER

The church is the mother spirit of God in the world, for she nurtures every good thing.

The church is the mother of humanity, for she is the background of modern civilization.

The church is the mother of prosperity, for she makes possible conditions for the city necessary for that commercial exchange essential to prosperity.

No one is justified in neglecting mother. Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY.

WHAT IS THE PURPOSE OF MOTHER'S DAY

The primary value of the day is in strengthening home ties through encouraging the child's expression of affection for its mother.

It offers an unparalleled opportunity to the church to arouse parents to their duty to home and childhood.

Home and church need each other. This day may help cement the bond if rightly observed.

Creamed Comments On S.S. Lesson

Palm Sunday is one of the church's special days; it calls for special attention to the coming of Jesus as Saviour and King. There is a rightful place and power of Jesus; it should not be spasmodic, and only for one day, but the type of a natural and continuous attitude.

V. 1. "And when they drew nigh unto Jerusalem, and came unto Bethphage unto the Mount of Olives, then sent Jesus two disciples." Jesus and his disciples likely stayed at the hospitable home of Mary and Martha where a supper was given Jesus when Mary anointed him; the two disciples sent were possible Peter and John.

V. 2. "Saying unto them, go ye into the village that is over against you, and straightway, ye shall find an ass tied and a colt with her; loose them and bring them unto me." An ass was an emblem of peace. Kings and princes commonly rode on them in times of peace and to ride an ass was a mark of dignity and rank.

V. 3. "And if anyone say aught unto you, ye shall say, The Lord hath need of them; and straightway he will send them." The anticipated objection was made and Christ's answer brought consent of the owners; here is a suggestion of readiness to yield possessions for the Master's use.

Vs. 4, 5. "Now this is come to pass, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken through the prophet saying, 'Tell ye daughters of Zion, Behold thy king cometh unto thee, meek and riding upon an ass and upon a colt the foal of an ass.' Matthew writing his gospel that the Jews might believe Christ as the promised Messiah often quotes prophecy as done here, Zech. 9:8, Isa. 62:11. Zion was the hill in Jerusalem where David lived and the 'Daughters of Zion' was Jerusalem itself.

V. 6. "And the disciples went, and did even as Jesus appointed them." A lowly task, but they rejoiced in it for the rest of their lives.

V. 7. "And brought the ass, and the colt and put on them their garments; and he sat thereon." Our Lord rode on the colt; they folded up their outer garments for Christ to use as a saddle, doing this out of a profound love and respect for Him.

V. 8. "And the most part of the multitude spread their garments in the way; and others cut branches from the trees and spread them in the way." All wanted to show their respect to Christ, using the current way used in honoring the great, spreading garments, and beautiful palm branches on his path; disciples must prepare the way of the Lord with a service of sacrifice; our conduct may attract attention to Christ.

V. 9. "And the multitudes that went before him and that followed cried saying, Hosanna to the son of David, Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest." This is religious enthusiasm accepted by Christ as proper. This expression is based on Psalm 118, so that again Matthew appeals to the Hebrew mind.

V. 10. "And when he was come into Jerusalem, all the city was stirred, saying who is this?" There are always people who want to know the reason; Jesus is more than reason; He is a fact, and faith in Him supercedes reason.

V. 11. "And the multitude said, this is the prophet, Jesus, from Nazareth of Galilee." Wherever love and gratitude exist, where Jesus is understood and adored, means to praise him will be found. Lifting will come; then ways and festival days and moments of up-lifting will come.

6. How may we be more enthusiastic religiously today?
7. What may we do in making Christ King?

Clericus says, "Christ's kingdom consists of righteousness and peace; it brings forgiveness, purity, brotherhood, love; it crushes all evil and is the program for the family of God; it ought to be hailed with enthusiasm and its principles practiced in every walk of life. War will cease forever when Christ's kingdom comes. The shouting should be heard today when Jesus is presented."

Lesson prayer, "We would join the multitude in proclaiming Christ Saviour and King. Give us the note of praise with a persistent enthusiasm that will not die."

Motherhood turns timidity into fierce courage, thoughtfulness into foresight and selfishness into self-denial.

The mother's heart is the child's schoolroom.

PETTIT-SINCLAIR'S DEFEATED BY GORDONS BY SCORE 10-1

Art Steele Leads Gordon Team In Field With Many Sparkling Plays—Three Runs Scored By Winners In Opening Frame Before Best Crowd of Year.

Led by an athlete named Steele, who scampered hither and yon to snatch line fly balls, to snag hot grounders and to make beautiful snap throws to any of the bases the Gordon Tire recreation league outfit returned to the victory column Friday evening, by a lopsided defeat of the Pettit-Sinclair team. The score was 10-1 and the game was played at Mason's field before the largest crowd of the season.

Last Monday night the Pettit-Sinclair's held the Gordons to one run while scoring the same number and after 11 innings of battling the game was postponed.

But what those Gordons did to the solid hit to center field and when Peters, in trying to shoestring the ball, permitted it to go through Steele pulled up at third base. He and two other males scored in this frame. Pettit-Sinclair's came back for one run in their part of the first frame when two solid singles started the round.

But that one run ended the tire-oil team's scoring abilities. Gordon's scored one more run in the second, and followed with three in the third session. Scoring was halted from the third until the eighth when three more markers crossed the rubber.

TRIMMER HITS
Trimmer, hard clubbing Gordon first sacker, lead the hitters of both teams, when he connected for four solid blows, one a triple, in five trips to the platter. Pickens, Parks and Gordon each hit safely twice. Drungs, Pettit-Sinclair third sacker, socked three hits for his team.

home in Philadelphia. The oil prosecutor said he wasn't speaking about prohibition, but about the wisdom of incorporating such an amendment as the 18th in the constitution from a purely legalistic standpoint.

Senator Simmons (D) of North Carolina, who is bitter over the Parker defeat, and who is facing a hard fight for re-election this year because of his bolt of Smith in '28, was quick to join Sheppard in the incipient opposition to Roberts.

On and off the floor, Simmons has blamed "the wets" for inciting the opposition to Parker. He accused the wets of "stirring up the negroes" in the Parker fight. It was this negro opposition to Parker that ultimately turned the scale against him.

However, the prospects of starting a successful fight against Roberts on the prohibition issue appeared hopeless today even to the most radical of the prohibitionists. Such outstanding dries as Fess (R) of Ohio, Allen (R) of Kansas, and their colleagues will have none of it. The senate is overwhelmingly dry, but it has not yet reached the point where it is willing to apply the dry yard stick to every question.

Racing Bugs.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 10.—Chief interest among turfmen centered today in the sixth race at the opening of the Churchill Downs meeting in which a number of derby eligibles will hook up.

Gallant Knight and High Foot have been established the favorites, and will hook up with Busy, Maudlin, Alcibiades, Roll 'Em Down, Stock Market, Prince Aetheling, Ladrone and Billy Champ, all eligible for the classic as well as Pansy Walker, Brother Rank and Morsel over the six and one-half furlong route.

Broadway Limited of Three D's stable was sent the full derby route of a mile and a quarter at the Downs yesterday, turning the distance in 2:12 3/4, quarter in 25 2/5, half in 51 4/5, three quarters in 1:29 and mile in 1:46. He seemed to be pushing all the way. Trainer Vested announced that he is negotiating with Mack Garner and Pete W. to pilot the Three D's pair in the derby.

YOUNG JACK THOMPSON WINS WORLD WELTERWEIGHT TITLE

California Negro Takes Clean-cut Victory From Jackie Fields, Who Won From Joe Dundee Last July on Foul—Fields Badly Whipped.

DETROIT, May 10.—Young Jack Thompson, Oakland, Calif., negro, today became the world's welterweight champion. He defeated Jackie Fields of Los Angeles here last night in 15 rounds in one of the most unlooked for upsets in the history of fistiana.

Elmer (Slim) McFarland, the referee, walked over to Thompson and raised his arm without hesitation at the end of the bout, so clearly had the negro shown he was Field's master. The crowd of 15,000 persons approved the verdict.

Fields, who entered the ring confident of victory, cried like a child in his corner when his dark-skinned opponent was proclaimed the new champion. The bout was the first in which Fields had defended his title since he won it in July of last year from Joe Dundee on a foul.

The new wearer of the welterweight laurels is the first colored boxer to win the crown since Joe Walcott was champion 29 years ago.

Although Thompson fought a brave, daring fight and had the champion so tired after the tenth round that Fields could not fight back, the result was made bitter to the southern Californian by the fact that he almost won on a kayo in the second round. Rights to the jaw had the negro in great distress and Fields tore in with the scent of victory in his nostrils, but Thompson weathered the storm and came back to his former powerful self in the third round.

A hard right cross to the chin in the second appeared to make the colored boy's knees crumple for a second, but a welcome clinch saved him.

Thompson's victory was unquestioned and he won cleanly. He was credited with taking ten of the 15 rounds. Fields won only two rounds, the rest being even.

in a cigarette it's Taste

POPULARITY IN A SPORTSMAN rests first of all on fair play; in a cigarette on better taste.

CHESTERFIELD'S POPULARITY is fairly won with finer tobaccos, blended and cross-blended to give greater delicacy and richer fragrance.

IT TAKES TIME and is costly to make cigarettes the Chesterfield way, but no other way arrives so surely, so completely, at what you want most . . . "TASTE above everything".

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price. LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

TWO GOOD SPORTS

They're a rarely interesting pair—Mother Jones, the miner's friend, and John D. Rockefeller, billionaire. They have been through many a fight, on opposite sides. But the antagonism has waned through the years, since the old Colorado Fuel and Iron battle that proved the temper of both and woke young John D. up to his social responsibilities. They are drawn pretty close together in the amenities accompanying Mother Jones's centenary.

First came a telegram from Rockefeller, saying: "Please accept my hearty congratulations on your 100th birthday anniversary. Your loyalty to your ideals, your readiness to sacrifice for your duty as you have seen it, is an inspiration to all who have known you. May you have continued health and happiness as long as life lasts."

The fiery old lady replied: "Your good wishes and hopes for continued long life was a happy surprise, and among the messages most appreciated by me. Knowing all the responsibility on your shoulders, it was a humane act to think kindly of me at this time, and your message was the expression of a Christian heart."

"He's a damn good sport!" was the less formal comment of Mother Jones to her friends. I've licked him many times, but now we've made peace." John D. might have said the same of her.

Is it too much to suggest that the changed feeling between these veteran foes at the opposite poles of industry represents the increasing good will between the two great classes, capital and labor?

COSTLY ELECTIONS

The fact that Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick spent a quarter of a million dollars to win the senatorial nomination in Illinois does not make voters and officials everywhere thoughtful. Granting Mrs. McCormick's statement that the cost of running a political campaign in this country is constantly increasing, and recognizing the fact that with 3,000,000 voters to be reached a single round of postage stamps would come to $80,000, do not lessen the wrongness of such a situation. None of the money need be used for corruption—and in this case there is no assumption that any of it was so used—to make such a huge campaign fund dangerous.

Suppose another woman had been running in opposition to Mrs. McCormick, one with no fortune at her command but with perhaps greater legislative ability. She would have had no chance, which is hardly the ideal in elections in a democracy.

Is it not possible to devise a way to put all candidates on an equal financial footing, with expense accounts moderate and alike? Mrs. McCormick is correct when she says political campaigns are growing more costly all the time. But the public is wrong to allow this to be so.

STATE OR NATIONAL CANAL?

Regarding the recommendation of the congressional rivers and harbors committee, that the federal government should take over and operate the Erie canal, connecting Lake Erie and Ontario with the Hudson river, the Detroit News recently had this to say:

"The people of New York have spent upward of $2,000,000,000 on the Barge canal and have got nothing back. The theoretical maximum capacity of the Barge canal is 20 million tons. It carries annually less than three million tons. In his report to the Governor of New York, State superintendent of public works said: 'In 1925 it cost the state $4.51 a ton for all freight floated on the canal. It would have been cheaper for the state if all freight carried on the canal had been put on railroad cars and the state had paid the freight bills.'

"This explains why Mr. Dempsey, chairman of the rivers and harbors committee, who lives at Lockport on the Barge canal, wishes the people of the United States to take over the Barge canal. It indicates also what the logical point of view of the people of the United States should be upon the question now pending before Congress."

On the other hand, the Buffalo Evening News expresses its opinion that the federal government, if it were in charge of the canal, would "bring it to such a degree of efficiency that the advocates of the St. Lawrence shipway project would be left without an argument on the basis of service requirements of the Middle West."

We may waive the question of federal efficiency and yet say that this is a wise comment from almost any viewpoint. The Erie canal is not being put forward at

"SHEIK'S WIFE"
BY WINIFRED VAN DUZER

CHAPTER XXIX.

KEN'S first picture of Puss was finished quickly—much too quickly to be at all flattering to Eve.

"The kid's a great little model," he would say, chuckling with delight. "Does her posing naturally. Always knows what to do—helps a fellow along."

Puss was "the kid" to Ken now and Eve had to admit that the name suited her. "Acting as if she were peering at the world over the side of her cradle—that hard-boiled little fox. Only Ken doesn't know she's hard-boiled and I can't call him. Silly creatures, men. Only Nory is different—not carried away."

Eve thought a lot about Nory these days. He seemed always to be about when she needed him, always saying something to make her laugh, doing some little thoughtful thing to bring her into the midst of what was going on.

Ken at once planned a second picture of Puss. He was to do her in the embroidered Chinese robe and Eve watched her drape the ivory folds and she smiled just a bit spitefully. She had thought of the day he painted her in the robe and her heart had ached a bit when Effi wore it jauntily, sliding off one shoulder. But now she felt only irritation. That Ken should be susceptible to anything so obvious and cheap as Puss' Southwick!

This picture was finished and another begun and then another. And Eve commenced to look upon the presence of Puss about the house as something which could not be helped and so must be ignored as much as possible.

Nory started his new novel, a love story of the war with the opening chapters laid in France. And Eve plunged into the task of helping him.

"You shouldn't give so much time to this, dryad. You're making it your story as much as it's mine and I'll never be able to pay you back."

"Oh, Nory—as if you hadn't already! You've no idea how wonderful it is, feeling I've got a brain that's some use."

She stopped then, flushing. That sounded like disloyalty to Ken, yet she knew Nory understood. "You're not artistic, Eve; you haven't the feel for creative art." What the tribe always was saying to her; what she was beginning to think Ken believed with the rest. The smiling tolerance with which Ken received any little suggestion she had to make about his work—though there were times when he used her ideas, thinking them his own ideas.

Eve read Nory's first drafts of his chapters, poring over the dictionary to check up on his spelling which was not the best in the world, catching the dozen and one little loose ends writers leave dangling. She learned to use the typewriter and began to copy his manuscript, working slowly and rather painfully.

"Listen, Eve, you know I'd pay a stenographer a smart sum for that work. Why not put this on a business basis? You've no idea what it means to me."

"But Nory, can't you see? All the idle time on my hands. I can't, so if Ken—well, there's nothing I can do for him. Not just now. Please, Nory—"

He understood. Presently Puss would go and then Ken would want his wife to pose again. Women! Waiting—always waiting. Patiently, hopefully waiting for their men to come back.

So Nory took what Eve so gladly gave and sent her great bunches of flowers and after each of his visits to the city she would receive books and magazines and boxes of candy and delightfully grotesque character dolls—these last to make her laugh with a bit of a choke in her throat.

Then Elma decided she must help Chuck along professionally by entertaining his associates and invited an editor and a business manager and their wives to spend a week-end in The Lane. And these people, after the manner of New Yorkers, scarcely had caught sight of anything north of the Harlem River or west of the Patissades in many a year and consequently were so impressed by the Haverford that Elma said they must climb old Thunderberg, the highest of the hills, to see the sun rise.

"Well, start about 5 o'clock," she telephoned Eve. "And have breakfast on the mountain. Bacon and coffee—won't you love it?"

"I won't love being here," Eve demurred, thinking of Ken. Hard enough to get him up at any time—and five o'clock!

"Nonsense—think of the sun rising across the river. You're not artistic at all, Eve. Tell that lazy husband of yours to get to bed early tonight. We're counting on him."

It was as Eve feared; Ken was rebellious. But Puss heard about the party and came dashing in, clapping her hands and shaking her honey-colored curls till they tumbled all around and gave her the look of a child wind-blown into mischief.

"Does one think nice lady would let little Puss come to party? Such a good little Pussy-cat climbs mountains and purrs all pretty-pretty."

"That's an idea," Ken laughed and looked at Eve.

"It isn't my party," she said rather shortly.

"But Elma likes a crowd. I'm sure she'd welcome the kid." It was almost an argument, Ken's manner of making this statement and Eve turned away, quivering with outrage.

"Oh, by all means. Yes, do come, she managed to get out. And Ken and Puss laughed together, the girl very flustered and the boy all admiration.

So it happened that in the cool hours before daybreak on a summer morning the tribe gathered at the Hollis and drank a great deal of very hot coffee, everybody yawning, slightly irritable, inclined to find comfortable resting places and drowsed. They had to wait for Puss.

"No use your expecting Ken to fetch you," Eve had told her. "I doubt if he'll get up as it is."

"Well—" Puss was sweetly thoughtful, giving Eve a wide stare, bringing her little hands together in a hurt, entreating way. "Oh, get Neil Pierson—I'm sure Elma won't mind—"

And now they waited for the two, Elma nervous and eager to start and everybody else a bit resentful, thinking of lost sleep. And when presently the two appeared Elma glanced at Puss—at her white silk sports dress, her high-heeled pumps—and then at the knickers and brogues the other girls wore and the rough and ready garb of the men.

"This is a mountain, my dear, not a country club," she snapped. "Still it's your funeral. All right, let's go."

Historic Railroad Spike

When the rails of the Union Pacific and Central Pacific railroads were united, composing the first transcontinental railway in America—a golden spike was used for the last spike. It was driven by Leland Stanford, president of the Central Pacific, and an official of the Union Pacific. The spike was immediately withdrawn and is preserved in the museum at Leland Stanford university.

DR. COPELAND SAYS—
The Fear of Cancer
Dr. Copeland's Health Topic Today

Many Persons Are Miserable Because of the Secret Belief They Are Suffering From This Disease—Have an Examination—Taken Early Cancer Can Be Cured.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

It is very natural that people should dread and fear cancer. The death rate from cancer is appalling, but hygienic measures and publicity are helping to make it less.

Cancer is found everywhere. It attacks persons of all ages and in all stations of life.

Sir Berkeley Moynihan, the famous English surgeon, has said about cancer:

"Cancer is not sometimes, but always, curable when taken early enough. The public needs education. The fear of cancer is the real 'king of terrors.' When people face the truth and treat unusual growth quickly, truth will set them free."

There has been a widespread movement recently, proposing public education in preventive measures that use for health. If the public will only accept the knowledge passed on to them by doctors, by the press, the radio and other means of education, great benefit will result.

It is difficult to say what causes cancer. There is some peculiar sensitiveness or lack of resistance of the tissues that fosters the cancerous growth. This quality, whatever it is, is present in middle or advanced age more than it is in youth or early life.

Whenever a lump is found anywhere on the body, whether it is sore or not, you should consult a doctor for examination. A lump or tumor, whether large or small, on the outside or inside of the body, may develop into cancer, but in the early stages be quite innocent.

If a sore does not heal quickly the doctor should be consulted. Most ordinary sores heal quickly, but if the cure is not speedy find out why.

Great progress has been made by the aid of the X-ray and other modern methods of diagnosis. Doctors are now better prepared to discover this malady than they were formerly.

After an operation keeps many a person from consulting a doctor in time. Many a secret sufferer who has been dumb with misery has been told by his doctor, after consultation, that his trouble was of no consequence at all. Do not be the victim of a foolish fear.

Support your fears are realized, isn't it better to have your doctor find out in time and have the trouble removed? Remember the words:

Theatres
AT THE MET

"Murder on the Roof," the famous story of New York night life, by Edward Doherty, which ran in the Liberty Magazine for ten weeks and was considered by a publication the greatest circulation builder since "Wings," has been brought to the screen by Columbia Pictures as a pretentious special. It is scheduled to play at the Metropolitan Theatre.

Doherty, the author, is one of the outstanding writers of short stories dealing with the Gay White Way and the underworld of Manhattan. He spent several years of his life on Metropolitan dailies, where he rubbed shoulders with all strata of society. His characters are all drawn from life in a most realistic manner.

The film has been produced on an elaborate scale, with singing and dancing sequences. All the color, glamor and lure of the sparkling night life along Broadway, together with the adventures and thrills of racketeers has been included in the production. Members of the cast, include Dorothy Revier, Raymond Hatton and Margaret Livingston.

AT THE CLIFTONA

The Irish ancestry of Nancy Carroll, sweet-Visaged sweetheart of "Sweetie" is a factor in her portrayal of the starring role of "Honey," her newest picture, which is coming to the Cliftona theatre Sunday.

In "Honey" which is based on the famous stage success, "Come Out of the Kitchen," Nancy plays the part of the Southern belle who is forced to rent her parental estate to a group of visiting Easterners to save it from mortgage debts. A defection in the ranks of the family servants makes it incumbent upon Nancy to assume the role of cook with the added quality of an Irish brogue to give the deception greater force.

Thus she will be seen and heard as a young girl from the dear—old county of Claire—whence in deed Nancy's forbears came to America many years ago.

The picture is enriched by the tuneful melodies of Harling and Costlow, well-known lyricists and composers. Miss Carroll herself sings two of the hit numbers.

Her leading man in "Honey" is Stanley Smith, the attractive young singing actor, who played the leading romantic role in "Sweetie."

Others in an excellent supporting cast of clever comedians are Harry Green, Lillian Roth, ZaSu Pitts, Mitzie Green, Skeets Gallagher and Jobyna Howland.

AT THE GRAND

The world's best known twins will come to town tomorrow, eager to meet all the twins of Circleville and surrounding towns, at the big party to be held at the Grand theatre Monday afternoon.

Daisy and Violet, the Siamese Twins are to be hostesses at a twin party following the matinee Monday afternoon.

Many twins have received tickets, and many more free tickets await those who will apply for them and register for the twin party.

"I want all twins in Circleville to attend our party," said Daisy Hilton to a Herald reporter this morning over phone. "So do I," echoed Violet, "and I would like to meet the twins that attended our party a few years ago at Columbus and I understand live here at present. We had a great party yes-

UNIT EDUCATIONAL COST LOW AS SCHOOL SIZE INCREASES

COLUMBUS, OHIO.- As schools increase in size, says the latest bulletin of the Research Department of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, the unit cost of education decreases, and the standard of teaching is higher. The per pupil cost decreases as the average daily attendance increases, due partly to the fact that the greatest single factor in the cost of the small school is the teacher's salary.

The teacher's load is a vital factor in the cost of education. Some authorities claim that the number of pupils per teacher in elementary schools should not be more than 25 or 30, while others claim that 45 pupils may be placed under one teacher. Of course, the successful operation of a large class depends largely upon the capability of the teacher and upon the homogeneity of the class group.

Consolation is obviously the only remedy of the situation in the case of small schools. If there are 35 pupils in daily attendance at a school, the average teacher's salary per pupil in the elementary school, should be about $31 per year, and when the average attendance drops to but 30 pupils, the increase of teacher's salary per pupil is 19 percent. Teachers that have classes of 20 pupils, show an increase in the cost of 77 percent in teacher's salary per pupil per year.

This applies not only to elementary schools, but also to High Schools, where a study of national conditions in 1926 and 1927 showed the cost in small schools to be 40 percent higher than in larger schools.

A study of 53 four-year high schools in Ohio shows that the cost per pupil ranges from $50

A MOTHER'S LOVE ENDURES

E. Virginia Nelson.

Others may love you when your mother has passed away—perhaps a kind-hearted sister or she whom of all the world you have chosen as a partner through life—she may love you warmly, passionately; children may love you fondly, but never again while time is yours shall the love of woman be to you as that of your old mother. There is indeed an enduring tenderness in the love of a mother to her son that transcends all other affections of the heart.

It is neither to be chilled by selfishness, weakened by worthlessness, nor stifled by ingratitude. She will sacrifice every comfort to his convenience. She will surrender every pleasure to his enjoyment; she will glory in his fame, and exult in his prosperity. If misfortune overtakes him, he will be the dearest to her for it; if disgrace settles upon his name, she will still love and cherish him in spite of that. If all the world besides cast him off, she will be all the world to him.

A father may turn his back on his child, brothers and sisters may become inveterate enemies, husbands may desert their wives, and wives, their husbands, but a mother's love endures through all in good repute, in bad repute, in the face of the world's condemnation, a mother loves on and still on with hopes that her child may turn from his evil ways; still she remembers his infant smile that ever-filled her bosom with rapture, the merry laugh, the joyful shout of his childhood, the opening promise of his youth, and thinking of these, she never can be brought to think him all unworthy.

ON SUCCESS

Success in life is an object of almost unlimited desire. It is the prize for which all people are working and struggling to gain. Yet, there are some who sneer at it and some who point out the ways of acquiring it but who refuse to work for it.

Individual success is essential to the common person. To honor the qualities that have won success, squarely is the aim of the individual.

Methods in which men win success are almost endlessly diversified. Some men have started activity which later gain them fame by a series of irregular bounds. There are some men who by their hastiness, disgust opposition by raging, yet who succeed in the long run. Another class, who by sensitiveness of design and project, seems to grasp the complex difficulties. There is another class, the very opposite of these who win wealth, place or honor by struggling energy. Finally, there is a class of men who win success by luck. This is very unusual however.

Everyone contains an element of chance to gain success. He is enriched with the power of acting. You have an opportunity of some kind bestowed upon you so find out just what it is and start for your goal—SUCCESS!

HAVE A TICKET?

If you haven't been approached as yet to purchase your tickets to the senior class play party which May 15 and 16 intends to solve the riddle of Who Stole La Giana's Jewels, you may be pleasantly served by any of the following who are illustrating the ushers' adage: "It pays to get busy and become a busybody selling tickets for The Busybody."

These active pupils have tickets: Wilma Phetous, Dorothy L. Glick, Myname Hitchcock, Mabel Good, Pauline Acord, Hilda Thomas, Mary A. Ryan, Mary J. Lowe, Kathryn Bochart, Ruth Carothers, Charlotte Steinhauser, Sarah Steinhauser, Evelyn Steele, Ethel Binkley, Elizabeth Hilyard, Reynold Greene, Robert Rector, Iona Miller, Eloise Hanley, Harriet Mason, Mary M. Reserved tickets may be had at Wilder's Drug Store.

Irving's "Sketch Book" is now being read by Velma Watson's sophomore English class.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY GROWING HI-Y

HI-Y OFFICERS ELECTED

Charles Plum and Robert Greenley were elected president and vice president respectively of the Hi-Y club at the election held at the meeting Tuesday noon in the auditorium.

Nominations for president and vice president were received and each member voted for two without designation for the office. Charles Plum with the highest number received the high office and Robert Greenley with the next highest, became vice president.

Pat Kirwin won the office of secretary after a close race with William Barthlemas, Clarence Barnhart, and Donald May. Donald May received the office of treasurer after a very close race with Robert Griffith and William Barthlemas.

Plum has just completed a successful year as vice president, being the only sophomore officer in the club.

Next week there will be a formal installation of these new officers.

At the business meeting it was decided to spend some of the excess treasury by going on a picnic. Further preparation will be discussed at the next meeting.

HI-Y PURPOSE AND PLATFORM

The purpose of the Hi-Y is "to create, maintain and extend throughout this school and community a higher standard of Christian character."

It is not unusual to see a boy pray, even today. If he is a Hi-Y boy, he will know how and be proud of it.

The platform of the Hi-Y is "Clean speech, clean sportsmanship, clean scholarship, and clean living."

The Hi-Y boys speak clean, play clean, work clean, and live clean and does not find it hard to live a "clean" life.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF CIRCLEVILLE HI-Y CLUB

By Robert Rector

The Circleville Hi-Y Club was organized by Mr. A. L. Ward, State Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. At the time of the organization there were twelve members. The charter members were: Grover Moore, Theodore Heskell, Herbert Hammett, Tom Hedges, Elliott Barnhill, Emmett Barnhart, Kenneth Ulin, Allen Eagleson, Joseph Adkins, Harry Boyer, Eugene Smith and Norman Aronson.

The first officers of the club were: president, Grover Moore; vice president, Theodore Heskell; secretary, Herbert Hammett; treasurer, Tom Hedges; sergeant-at-arms, Elliott Barnhill.

An advisory committee consisting of Mr. C. R. Barnhart, Mr. T. Hilliard, and Rev. De Camp, was elected by the club at the beginning of the organization and it is still serving.

In the fall of 1923 the club was invited to visit Washington, C. H. high school and organized a Hi-Y club there. This was highly successful and the club at Washington has made great success.

During the year 28-29 many new members were taken into the club and many new things were sponsored and accomplished.

In February, 1929, the Circleville Hi-Y club, together with the clubs of Danbridge, Hillsboro, Greenfield, Chillicothe, and Frankfort, were entertained by the Washington C. H. club. This was one of the clubs of the district was so successful that it is held again this year.

The club every year has sent delegates to Camp Nelson, Dodge, Young Men's World Brotherhood, and special meetings called at Columbus, etc. It was the pleasure of the club to help finance the trip of a brother Hi-Y member representing Ohio in the World Conference held in Holland.

During the four years of the Hi-Y club's organization in Circleville it has had three most efficient advisors. Our first advisor was Mr. C. C. Hunter who worked in his capacity from the years 26-28. Our next advisor turned out to be Mr. E. J. Gephart—a most efficient leader and a friend we all look up to and respect. His year, our commercial teacher, Mr. Kiefer has given his services as Assistant Advisor. To him we are greatly indebted.

ULM WINS APPOINTMENT

Kenneth Ulin, class of '29, was appointed to the technical stage crew for "The Royal Family," which will be presented by the Ohio Wesleyan Players at the Little Theatre, Delaware, May 23, 24 and 25. The appointment was made by R. C. Hunter of the dramatic department. While here Mr. Ulin was stage manager of "The Belle of Barcelona," and served in several technical capacities in plays staged by the dramatic class of that year.

SMITH ENTERTAINS

James Smith entertained the eighth grades Monday morning with a number of harmonica solos.

FURNISHINGS, FUN FEATURE BUSYBODY

If there's any play the pleasure loving public wants to see, it's the rib-ticking three-act farce called The Busybody to be presented by the senior class and directed by J. W. Fetherlin in the high school auditorium next Thursday and Friday.

The stage setting will be more completely and elaborately equipped, thanks to the unusual generosity of Circleville leading merchants in furniture and electric fixtures. Mason Brothers and J. Moffitt Electric Co. John Heskell and assistant, John Himrod, promise to employ their skill as stage managers, and Virginia Richey will do her best as the prompter.

The setting through-out the play will represent the sitting room of a Riverside apartment of Mrs. Cornelia Culpepper, fashionable dame of New York City. The furniture in this room will consist of a velvet parlor suite, book case, piano, an occasional table, and other bric-a-brac, furnished by Moffitt's Electric Shop.

The list of the property used in the comedy will include such things as four revolvers (don't come near, Al Capone) one tornado, and five pounds of chocolates (stand back girls-form a line).

There will be five extinguishers (?), comic sheets, umbrellas, trays of dishes, toppling statues, telephones, check books, diamonds, (?) rings, a stacked deck, and several rolls of money (stage).

This sounds good, doesn't it? But that isn't all. The leading parts are all taken by experienced players. Their respective roles follow.

Sally Culpepper, an auburn-haired beauty of grace and charm, will be portrayed by Mary Margaret Moore. She is full of vitality and is ultra-modern in every way. This little dame is seen first in a chic street dress which will be of interest to all aspiring flappers. And then we have Mrs. Cornelia Culpepper (herself) who is other-wise Margie Hunsicker. She is easy going, is not born to command, but cherishes the delusion that she is an exceptional housekeeper. She is seen in a kimono and a boudoir cap, and once in an afternoon frock, but when she gets a chance to visit the Cafe Montmartre she dolls up (and how).

Rosamond Rosmore, a wealthy widow who has seen 30 summers come and go, has neither lost youth nor appearance, and as represented by Elizabeth Cady, is often seen in fashionable, sophisticated frocks.

Minerva Culpepper, alias Peggy Courtright, is one of those fussy, intellectual types who are always entirely sure of her opinion. Her severely tailored costumes accentuate the cold severity with which she approaches life.

Baby, otherwise known as the Lady Across the Hall, is that type represented by cheap jewelry, crimp hair, uncultivated voice, and make-up overemphasized, but yet is good natured and jolly. But, believe it or not, this young lady is characterized by Jeanne Crowe.

Must going to be good, eh? Then we have with us, our own Anastasia Biddleberry, sometimes called "The Lady" from Downstairs. This bit of antiquity is personified in Martha Mader. Miss Biddleberry is the secretary of the Anti-vivisection society, is very uncompromising (albeit the two detectives doubt it), rather masculine, and to be seen in long skirts and high-buttoned shoes of a style belonging to the period before the one-half of one percent era.

Now we have (and why not?) Elizabeth Roundhouse as Hilda Jackson Washington Lee, a black-face maid servant of size. She is attired in a gingham dress, apron, white dusting cap, and is later seen in a street dress of unusual design. At other times is seen strutting about in a kimono, and once escorted two bold, bad detectives from her room while sporting a new flannelette night gown (she wearing the night gown, needless to say).

Last of the female characters is Miss Arabella Hammer, an intellectual spinster (high brow for an old maid). She is a friend of Minerva and is quite attached to Professor Kelp who is described in the following paragraph. Florence Celler is the capable actress characterizing Miss Hammer.

Professor Kelp is a middle aged "Prof", with the gray whiskers of a sky-terrier, who wears an old fashioned Prince Albert, spats, and nose glasses on black ribbon. His very fluent vocabulary consists of "yes indeed, indeed yes."

Stanley Green is seen in this part. Another male character is Ernest Cadman who is in reality Howard Greene. This young man is a well-built, bronzed millionaire of Texas who is attractive to women, and who knows it. He, as well as Edward Culpepper and Archibald Stubbs, reads his lines in well-tailored business suits and tuxedos. Being in love with Minerva serves to illustrate the truth of the Bard-of-Avon's remark that the course of that emotion refuses to flow smoothly.

Archie Stubbs, Charles Kirkpatrick, intensely in love with Sally, is a snappy young fellow who relies largely upon the breaks of games for success in life (which is not a bad idea).

Edward, a quiet man of distinguished appearance with a moustache that won't fall off is ably portrayed by Linden Baughman. Of course, like the others, he is in love, and the unlucky (?) one is Rosamond Culpepper.

Reynold Greene is an extraordinary janitor who receives a ton of crookery on his head, but who succeeds in being bought off.

Ignatius J. Cassidy, as represented by Robert Rector, is the conventional, hard-boiled stage detective, smooth shaven and dressed in a dark suit with a derby hat. He and his two cohorts, Charles Maynard McAllister and James Brown (what a pair they make) are brusque, impolite, and loud-mouthed. Their antics are well worth the price of admission which happens to be 50 cents for adults and by special arrangement 35 cents for pupils. Tickets may be reserved at no additional cost beginning at noon Tuesday at Wilder's Drug Co.

LUTHER LEAGUE PARTY AT PARISH HOUSE

A most outstanding meeting of the Luther League was held last evening at the Parish House in the form of a Mother's Day Banquet.

It was indeed a sight rarely seen. Many Christian mothers accompanying their sons and daughters to the banquet table where a very palatable meal was served. The menu consisted of chicken and noodles, au-gratin potatoes, johnnycakes, potato salad, salmon salad, cold beef hot rolls, pickles and olives and ice-cream and cake.

The banquet was followed by a program, beginning with the mother song, "Mother Machree," by the League quartet, composed of Mildred Barthelma, Ellen Leist, Jeanette Bower and Eleanor Fitzpatrick.

Topics of interest presented by Mrs. G. L. Troutman, was followed by open discussion. An address on "The Joys of Motherhood" was given by Rev. Glick of Ashville, O. This talk was very interesting and touched the heart-strings of every one present. In conclusion Rev. Glick said that mother should be honored not only one day in the year but every day.

A vocal solo, "Mother, Dear" by Gladden Troutman was most pleasing. Rev. G. L. Troutman, the President, presided.

Miss Lottie Walters was in charge of the banquet and her assistants were, Noah Leist, Wilma Leist, Clydus Young, Ellen Leist, Eleanor Fitzpatrick, Hortense Reid, Margaret Carter and Mary Bartholomew.

M. E. MOTHERS' BANQUET FRIDAY

Covers were laid for seventy-five at the M. E. church on Thursday evening, the occasion being the annual Mothers' and Daughters' Banquet given by the Young Women's Bible class of which Mrs. E. A. Allen is teacher.

The tables about which the guests gathered for the delicious seven o'clock dinner were elaborately decorated a color scheme of orchid and white predominating. Great bowls of orchid and white iris dotted the white cloth and alternated with crystal candelabras with graceful orchid tapers. Guests were met at the door by Mrs. Floyd Dunlap, who presented the mothers with bouquets of tulips and irises.

Immediately after the dinner a splendid program under the direction of the class president, Mrs. E. I. Gephart was given. Two daughters of the class, little Miss Jean Theobald who made her first public appearance with a piano number; and Miss Ruth Dunlap who gave a reading, "Why not keep Mother's Day," delighted the audience. A talk, "A Happy Mother's Day," ending with an original poem was offered by Mrs. Allen.

Dr. McElfresh told touchingly of five mothers who had influenced his life. Piano numbers by Mrs. Allen ended the program. The social hour was much enjoyed. The success of the evening depended upon Mrs. E. I. Gephart and Mrs. Mildred Karshner, chairman of the committee, assisted by Mrs. Floyd Dunlap, Mrs. Wm. Theobald, Mrs. Wm. Donohoe and Mrs. Pherson Bach. Mothers were present from Portsmouth, Lancaster, Ironton, Columbus and Circleville.

The Young Women's class will have charge of the morning service.
